Cookies and Remarketing Campaigns

What is a cookie?

A cookie is a piece of data stored on the hard drive of your computer containing information about you. Cookies do not contain viruses and most cannot review any of your personally identifiable information unless you willingly provide it as a user on a site.

Cookies are used for online banking and contain information like operating system and browser type.

Does Chevron Federal Credit Union use cookies on its website?

Yes. Chevron FCU uses "cookies" to enhance the user experience. User's web browser places cookies on their hard drive for record-keeping purposes and sometimes to track information about them. Users may choose to set their web browser to refuse cookies, or to alert you when cookies are being sent. If they do so, note that some parts of our website may not function properly.

Remarketing Campaigns

Chevron Federal Credit Union and third-party vendors use cookies to inform, optimize and provide advertisements based on a visitor's past visits to our website. As you use our website, we obtain information that we use for targeted messaging as you browse the Internet. For example, our remarketing campaigns with Google Adwords display content specific advertisements to visitors of our website when those visitors go to other websites that provide ads through Google. We also participate in remarketing and retargeting campaigns with other businesses and vendors.

Importantly, we do not share personally identifiable information with Google, other businesses, or third-party vendors. For example, we do not collect or share your name, contact information, account information or any other membership information. You can opt-out by clicking here.

Google Adwords Remarketing

Google AdWords Remarketing is a Remarketing and Behavioral Targeting service provided by Google. It connects the activity of users on www.chevronfcu.org with the Google Adwords advertising network and the Doubleclick Cookie. You can opt out of the cookie tracking by clicking here.

Google Analytics

We use Google Analytics to collect information about use of our website. Google Analytics collects information such as how often users visit this site, what pages they visit when they do so, and what other sites they used prior to coming to this site. We use the information we get from Google Analytics only to improve this site. Google Analytics collects only the IP address assigned to you on the date you visit this site, rather than your name or other identifying information. We do not combine the information collected through the use of Google Analytics with personally identifiable information. Although Google Analytics plants a permanent cookie on your web browser to identify you as a unique user the next time you visit this site, the cookie cannot be used by anyone but Google. Google's ability to use and share information collected by Google Analytics about your visits to this site is restricted by the Google Analytics Terms of Use and the Google Privacy Policy. You can prevent Google Analytics from recognizing you on return visits to this site by disabling cookies on your browser.
